

SEE THE ACTION IN SOUND!

Now you can listen to audio described movies at your local cinema.

221420

Audio described movies
can help you:

- Hear things you have difficulty seeing.
- Enjoy all the parts of a movie, including visual jokes, visual scenes and body language.
- Get the information through a headset, so only you hear it.

420

ADMIT ONE

accessible cinema
captioned and audio described movies

Hear it when you can't see it, and enjoy the latest movies with your friends and family.

Who uses audio described movies?

People who are blind or have a vision impairment find it a great way to share the movie experience with friends and family.

How to see an audio described movie

- You can go to any session of a movie that has been audio described – it does not have to be a designated session.
- Ask for a headset for audio description when you buy your ticket.

There is no extra charge for the audio description service.

Look for this symbol in your cinema's advertising to find audio described movies.

How to find out more

Visit www.yourlocalcinema.com.au for listings of all audio described movies nationally.

accessible cinema
captioned and audio described movies

This project has been funded by the Australian Government Department of Health and Ageing and is supported by the Independent Cinemas Association of Australia